The Awards 2020

Recognising clinical excellence in nursing

Chronic Oedema Nurse of the Year

Supported by

ENTRY FORM

Do any of your colleagues deserve recognition? Have you excelled in clinical practice?

The BJN Awards celebrate and reward excellence in clinical nursing. The awards recognise the immense talent, professionalism and innovation among the nursing workforce. At a time when staff and expenditure cutbacks are inevitably affecting morale, the BJN Awards 2020 are a celebration of achievement, a reminder of the reasons you nurse, and an infusion of encouragement to inspire continued enthusiasm for the nursing profession.

Chronic Oedema Nurse of the Year

How to enter

The main component of your entry is a written statement of no more than 500 words answering four-category specific questions (see below) - approximately 125 words on each.

1. What has this nurse contributed to Chronic Oedema and/or Lipoedema nursing?

2. How has this contribution impacted patient care?
3. How can this contribution benefit Chronic Oedema and/or Lipoedema nursing as a whole?
4. What evidence (if any) is there to support this contribution?

We would expect entrants to show evidence that they have demonstrated innovation and have raised the standards of care in Chronic Oedema and/or Lipoedema nursing.

Full criteria can be found on the BJN Awards website: www.bjnawards.co.uk

The Awards Ceremony

Finalists will be invited to attend a glittering black tie prize ceremony at the Shakespeare's Underglobe, London on Friday 20th March 2020. Dinner, dancing and leading guest speakers will follow the prize announcements.
